

H K Wentworth Achieves Zero Waste to Landfill Certification

“To be Certified as Zero Waste to Landfill and achieving almost a 90% recycling rate is a fantastic achievement and highlights our commitment to the environment and our customers.” H K Wentworth Ltd

About the customer

H K Wentworth Ltd is a manufacturer of a wide range of specialist electro-chemicals, advanced cleaning products and chemical solutions for niche applications through both Electrolube and AF International brands.

The challenge

H K Wentworth Ltd set out to achieve its zero waste to landfill ambitions in early 2016. Being a manufacturer of complex chemicals and advanced cleaning products one of the key challenges they faced was the management of 14 different waste streams ranging from general waste and office paper to plastic dipped buckets and electrical waste.

The solution

In order to achieve zero waste to landfill, H K Wentworth used various techniques for improving waste management on site including raising staff awareness, consolidating waste management contractors and putting in place systems for monitoring and continuous improvement. Once H K Wentworth believed it had achieved its goal it engaged Valpak to provide an independent Zero Waste to Landfill Certification service to verify the claim. This involved conducting a site audit, documenting waste processes/ reporting procedures and reviewing documentation/ evidence to support its zero waste to landfill claim.

The benefits

H K Wentworth Ltd achieved Zero Waste to Landfill Certification at the end of 2016. The benefits of this include:

- Being certified to a recognised standard
- Better management of waste resources
- Demonstrates its commitment to the environment
- Increased marketing opportunities
